Secretaries assure smooth operation

Secretarial duties were performed by Mrs. Betty Gerbers and Mrs. Gertrude Kneubuhler.

Herman and Shelby keep school clean

Mr. Ehresman and Mr. Klopfenstein were responsible for keeping our school spic and span.

Cooks provide delicious repasts

Mrs. Gerbers, Mrs. Cotner, Mrs. Scheiderer, and Mrs. Rathge prepared all the meals served at Woodlan.

Don Delagrange, the top student of the Class of 1966, has been an active member of F.F.A. and has held offices in this organization. Among his other interests were Student Council and Youth For Christ. Don was also class president his Freshman year, and he was class treasurer as a Junior. After graduation he will divide his time between farming and classes at Purdue Extension in Fort Wayne.

Honor students and award winners

Brenda Etzler is this year's recipient of the D.A.R. Award. This award is given by the Daughters of the American Revolution to one senior girl in each school. The girl is chosen by students and faculty for her qualities of dependability, leadership, patriotism, and service.

The winner of the Citizenship Award this year is Keith Gerbers. The student who receives this award is chosen by the faculty for his qualities of character, citizenship, leadership, and scholarship.

Kathleen Emme attended Harlan High School until this year. Her main interests center in music and math, her activities including four-year membership in band and chorus and membership in Woodlan's Math Club. She was also a member of F.T.A.--College Prep Club, newspaper staff, N.I.S.B.O.V.A., and was Harlan's delegate to Girls' State. The F.T.A.--College Prep Club established a scholarship fund of $50.00 to be given to a deserving Senior applicant. In the spring the Senior members were allowed to observe and teach in an undergrad classroom.

Evening in Old Rome

Woodlan's newly organized, but unofficial, Latin Club had one big project this year. They presented a Roman banquet to the faculty and administration. The second year students and three of the first year students with high grades represented the patrician class of "Old Rome." The remaining students were slaves and entertainers. Three of them, Sandy Smead, Diane Nelson, and Rhonda Stopher, were sold at a slave auction to different teachers who used Roman sesterces for money.

After the auction the banquet began. The main course included a roasted pig which was carved by Mr. Lee and Mr. Pond. The evening ended with music, as the student slaves presented "The Sound of Latin."

The WOODLAN FUTURE FARMERS of America Chapter is the largest in the state of Indiana with a total of 107 members. It is also one of the most active chapters.

The chapter participates in county, district, and national activities. Woodlan went all the way to the state contest in soil judging, finishing in the red ribbon group with Wayne Rekeweg being second highest in the state. The crop judging team finished second in the county with James Schaper being the highest individual. The team went to the district in March. The forestry and entomology teams were made up of younger members, but they still gave a fine showing. The dairy and livestock teams have not met as of yet, but judging from their past work, they will probably do well. Woodlan took part in the district contests in April. The contests entered were parliamentary procedure, essay, speech, impromptu speaking, scrapbook, freshman creed, and talent.

Eight of the chapter members have applied for Hoosier Farmer Degrees. They are Don Delagrange, Dennis Boterf, Dave Bandelier, James Schaper, John Pepe, Jim Lake, Doyle Allison, and Richard Ruppert.

Woodland High School is proud of its F.F.A. Chapter because it involves personal development in such things as citizenship, leadership, and service to the community.

The Girls' Athletic Association is for those girls who desire to learn and play organized sports such as volleyball, soccer, bowling, softball, table tennis, badminton, and shuffle board. G.A.A. offers girls a chance to develop greater skills in these and other athletic activities. The freshmen and sophomores form one group, and the juniors and seniors form another, each meeting on a different Wednesday of the month. Some activities of the year include a Dog Trot and a Senior Salute. The girls also participated in an assembly program, demonstrating exercises.

The purpose of the MATH CLUB is to illustrate that advanced and difficult mathematics can be enjoyable as well as beneficial. The membership is not limited to the gifted, but open to the interested.

The monthly programs are planned and presented by the members. Difficult proofs, trick problems, and general discussions on math are a few of the topics.

The club undertook two main projects. The first was a tour of the B. F. Goodrich plant, with special attention given to their math department. As a second project, the members bought two computers, one hand-operated, the other electric. The members had several enjoyable but taxing meetings programming and operating the computers.

Woodlan's Advanced Science and Rocket Club was formed from the students who have an interest in understanding and extending the principles of modern rocketry. Although the club works with only the scale replicas of larger models, the functions they perform in relation to the flying ability and stability are basically the same. The highest degree of safety is practiced, and the results of the experiments are satisfying. The members have learned to calculate the speed and height of different models using trigonometric functions. The Rocket Club, in the future, hopes to extend its bounds into the field of electronics.

This year Woodlan had a special cheering block composed of girls from the G.A.A. The block consisted of only those girls interested in cheering instead of the entire student body as in past years. During the County Tourney, the girls wore blue and white vests and flowers. They also used shakers to form letters in the cheerblock, and special motions were planned to accompany the cheers. The G.A.A. hopes that this idea will continue to grow in future years.

The Mid-Winter Conference, as usual, was one of the highlights of the club year. Y-Teens from several countries met at Kokomo, Indiana, and enjoyed a full day of fellowship, exchange of club service ideas and discussion of a film.

The Y-Teens also operated the school concessions and contributed to W.O.W.O.'s annual Penny Pitch Project. The residents of the Allen County Home were entertained with a variety program in March and were presented with Easter favors made by the girls.

The Social Studies Club was organized in 1958 to advance the principles of social studies within the student body of Woodlan High.

The club meets once a month and at special times. The members participate in various activities such as studying maps, reviewing films, taking field trips, and learning different recreational games in order to make constructive use of leisure time.

The club designed a school flag and presented it to the student body; this flag is now displayed in the gym. Club members were responsible for raising and lowering the United States flag each day.

OFFICERS

The F.H.A. officers met often in executive council to plan the activities and carry out the aims of the F.H.A. They presented skits, attended district meetings and guided the smooth operation of the large organization.

The Future Homemakers of America is a very large and active club at Woodlan. This year with over 200 members enrolled, Woodlan's Chapter became the largest in the state of Indiana.

The F.H.A. is an organization of girls interested in preparing themselves in the role of homemaking. The over-all objective of the organization is to aid individuals in improving personal, family, and community living both now and in the future. Each year, the members develop a program of work and service which will fulfill these objectives. This year's program was based on "helping each family member to recognize her abilities and to strive to full development of these abilities."

In order to become an F.H.A. Honor Chapter, each local chapter also has to complete the two state objectives: "Morals and Manners Count," and "Good Family Relations through Communications."

The F.H.A.'ers experienced a busy year. In September, the Senior girls initiated the Freshmen into the organization at their Annual Kick-Off Party. In October the F.H.A. joined with the F.F.A. to produce a float "Cook Those Cardinals" which won second prize at the Homecoming. In November each girl and her father enjoyed Daddy-Date Nite, for which the theme was "Pop is Tip-Top." During the Christmas Season the F.H.A.'ers caroled at the County Old People's Home and Irene Byron Hospital and decorated the Christmas tree at Woodlan.

With the beginning of the New Year, the new members were formally initiated as F.H.A.'ers at a reception where they received their pins. Again combining with the F.F.A., the F.H.A. presented the Valentine Dance "Dear Heart" to the student body on February 5th. March found the girls taking a trip to Bowling Green State University. F.H.A. Week, April 3 to 9, was observed at Woodlan with a special F.H.A. showcase, presentation of a red rose to each teacher, and "red and white day."

As the school year came to a close, the F.H.A.'ers became busier with preparations for the Rose Banquet and the style show presented each year in conjunction with the home economics classes.

"Home's Dearest Rose" was the theme of the Rose Banquet at which the mothers and graduating Seniors were honored. Announcements of the officers-elect and the Senior award winner were made.

June Rekeweg, this year's president, received the Senior award, the award to the Senior girl who has done the most for F.H.A. during her membership.

Three girls attended the State F.H.A. Convention held in June: Darlene Yerks, Jackie Kennedy and Pat Love, the latter being a member of the All-State Chorus.

June Rekeweg is the winner of the Senior F.H.A. award. She has been active all four years. She was a junior officer, a candidate for state officer, and this year's president. Much of success of F.H.A. this year is due to her hard work and careful planning.

Woodlan's student government

Woodlan's Student Council is composed of FIRST ROW: D. Allison, D. Bandelier, J. Brockman, L. Carpenter, E. Powell, K. Knoblauch, M. Pepe; SECOND ROW: Mr. Hewlett, Mr. Pond, P. Hoeppner, D. Delagrange, C. Hoeppner, Mrs. Weaver, Mr. Baulkey; THIRD ROW: M. Gerig, G. Eager, K. Litzenberg, R. Wilson, K. Kneubuhler, R. Hauke.

The STUDENT COUNCIL is composed of the president, who is a senior, and sixteen voting members. Four delegates from each class are elected to serve for one year.

The purpose of this organization is to develop attitudes of good citizenship; promote harmonious relations throughout the entire school; improve student-teacher relationships; upgrade school morale; assist in the management of the school; allow for forum for student expression; provide orderly direction of school activities; sponsor assemblies; and promote the general welfare of the school.

To be eligible for election, the student must submit his or her name with fifteen signatures, names of fellow class members approving his or her candidacy, to the STUDENT COUNCIL Election Committee. The election of the representatives from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes takes place during the last class meeting of the school year. There will be one week of active campaigning.

The projects and activities completed by the STUDENT COUNCIL this year are the following: sponsoring the Homecoming, sending delegates to conventions and workshops, posting the minutes on the bulletin board, maintaining the announcement board, promoting the annual Christmas Drive for a needy family, and sponsoring after-game dances and assemblies.

Woodlan's homecoming is sponsored annually by the Student Council. It was held, this year, on October 22. The Warriors won the homecoming game against the Geneva Cardinals by a score of 26 to 0. At halftime, after the parade of floats, the coronation was held. Last year's queen, Kathy Ball, crowned Senior Peggy Perkins to reign as this year's homecoming queen. Peggy's attendants were Seniors Lora Carpenter and Joy Nahrwold and Juniors Sharon Reinking and Jean Schaaf.

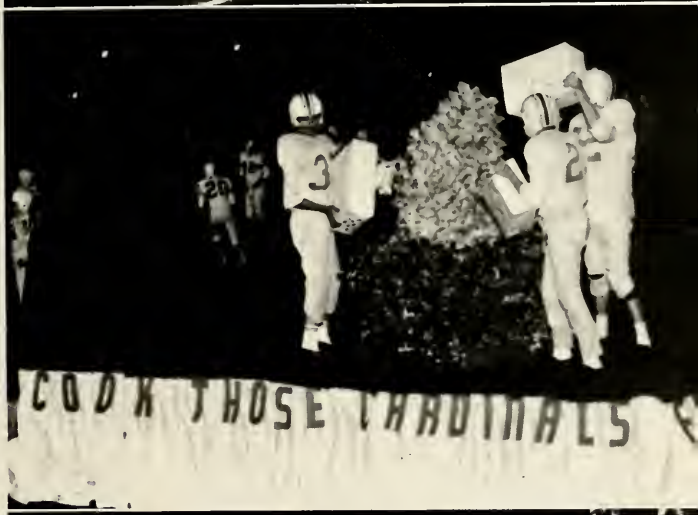
The parade of floats took place this year before the football game. The winning floats paraded around the field at halftime before the coronation of the queen.

The first prize went to the Sophomores with their float entitled "Geneva, We Will Bury You." Boys riding the float were Alan Korte, Garry Schaaf, and Randy Fulkerson.



The second prize went to the combined FHA-FFA float "Cook Those Cardinals." Riders were Bill Bremer, Earl Blankenship, and Todd Carpenter.

The Freshmen took third prize with the float "Climb to Victory." Jone Ball, Sue Remenschneider, and Ron Bandelier rode the float.

F.F.A.ers & F.H.A.ers present "Dear Heart"

Queen June Rekeweg and King Jim Brockman are attended by W. Werling, P. Johnson, M. Balogh, B. Gerbers, J. Gerig, D. Kneubuhler, B. Patterson, and D. Bandelier.

The King and Queen and attendants were chosen from a group of candidates selected by each club.

The F.F.A. and F.H.A. committees worked very hard to make the Valentine's Dance a night to remember. The decorations were pink and red making the cafeteria a truly colorful room. The theme, "Dear Heart", was carried out with huge red hearts. Small red and pink trees decorated each table.

This year over seventy couples enjoyed a night of flowers, music, small talk, and fun. Our own band director and his band provided the music for dancing.

The highlight of the evening was the coronation of the King and Queen. June Rekeweg and Jim Brockman received the honor and were crowned by Miss Judy Robinson and Mr. Robert Hewlett.

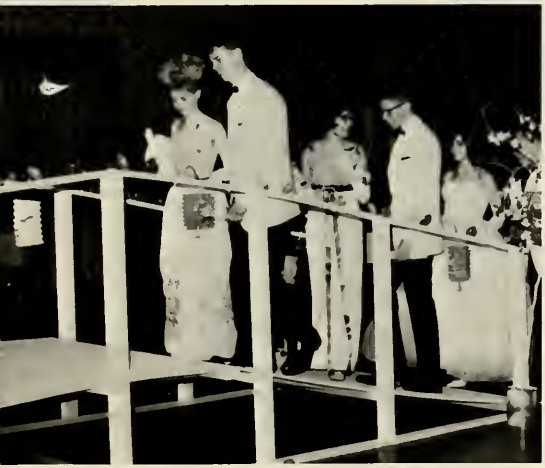
Candid Shots of Rehearsal

"Sayonara" presented by the class of "1967"

President of the Senior class Jim Brockman and last year's Prom Queen Lora Carpenter crown the king and queen of this year's Prom, Rick Smith and Pam Johnson.



The evening of dancing was begun by these Juniors with a promenade over the Japanese bridge.

The Juniors did an outstanding job this year in honoring the Seniors at the Junior-Senior Prom. Program and decorations carried out the theme, "Sayonara." The hanging lantems, lovely wooden bridge, the trees painted and hung with lanterns, and the murals painted by artists in the Junior class lent a true Japanese atmosphere to the ballroom of Cutter's Chalet.

Those attending danced to the strains of music provided by the Snowflakes.

The Juniors initiated a new idea into the Prom by holding a king and queen processional. The Sophomores participated in the processional dressed in Japanese costume and carrying paper dragons and sparklers.

After the end of the processional the king and queen and their court were named. The new king, crowned by Jim Brockman, is Rick Smith; and his queen, crowned by last year's queen, Lora Carpenter, is Pam Johnson.

The king was attended by Gary Eager, Dale Doty, Jay Gerig, and Kerry Litzenberg.

The queen's ladies-in-waiting were Sandy Smead, Nancy Thompson, Jean Delagrange, and Dianne Salzbrenner.

As the evening drew to a close, the comment was that this prom had been one of the best ever held.

Concert band goes to state music contest at Lagrange

BAND

Woodlan's band is both a marching unit and a concert band. During the summer and fall of the year its time is occupied by marching practice for the beginning and halftime shows at the football games. This year because of its increase in size, its members have no uniforms. In order to raise money for uniforms the band members' parents formed a booster club. With the help of two local organizations and through a drive, plus the members' money-making activities, they raised a substantial sum. The band also entertained at all the home basketball games.

Early in December, the band combined forces with the choirs to give the winter concert. In January, the band began to prepare for the district band contest, practicing more difficult and serious selections. On April 2, the band traveled to Columbia City where it received a "Superior" rating for the performance. Two weeks later it went to state contest at Lagrange and returned with an "Excellent" rating.

On May 6, the band again combined with the vocal department to produce a Spring Concert. After this concert the members concentrated on rehearsal of music which they played at Commencement.

Before the end of the school year, all the band members, except the seniors, were fitted for their new uniforms.

Majorettes

Although they are not members of the band, the MAJORETTES, Pam Johnson, Joy Nahrwold, June Rekeweg, Cindy Hoeppner, Lora Carpenter, and Drum Majorette Sue Schafer spent time rehearsing with the band during summer and fall practice and marched with them at football games and in the parades. Sue and Pam attended twirling school last summer. June and Pam performed a twirling routine in conjunction with a halftime show. Five of the girls are Seniors who have been majorettes for three years.

Woodlanaires swing with sound of big band

Woodlan's dance band, the Woodlanaires, is a group of musicians selected from the concert band who give up their free time to practice selections for contests and other performances.

The Woodlanaires have been in existence since 1959 when they formed to enter a contest. Each year since then they have received a Superior rating at the district contest, which entitled them to enter the state contest at Indianapolis.

February 5 was the date of this year's district contest which was held at Portage Junior High in Fort Wayne. The state contest was held two weeks later, February 19, at Butler University in Indianapolis. From there the Woodlanaires returned with an Excellent rating. The Woodlanaires performed at several pep sessions during football season. They entertained at one home basketball game and performed at the winter and spring concerts.

Most of the music played by the Woodlanaires is reminiscent of the tunes played by the bands famous in the "Big Band Era." Woody Herman's Woodchippers' Ball" and Glen Miller's "In the Mood" are examples of this type of music.

This year's recipient of the Arion Award, an annual award presented by the Women's Committee of the Philharmonic Orchestra, was Jim Schaper. His musical ability, willingness to give of his time and himself beyond his duty, and general talent merited him the coveted award. After graduation Jim plans to use his talent as a member of Purdue University's band.

Belles of Woodlan

Nine girls compose the Belles of Woodlan. These girls are chosen because of their ability and love of singing. Eight seniors and one junior make up the Belles: Leila Lengacher, Nancy Dix, Patti Love, Diane Korte, Sue Schafer, Brenda Etzler, Diana Madden, Cindy Hoeppner, and Jackie Nahrwold.

N.I.S.B.O.V.A. is the Northern Indiana School Band, Orchestra, and Vocal Association. Each year music students enter either instrumental or vocal numbers which are judged and rated.

There are two separate contests. This year Portage Jr. High and Franklin Jr. High hosted the events. Woodlan had over twenty entries in both contests. Of the fifteen instrumentalist entries, 9 received Superior: Suzi Amstutz, Debbie Zirkelbach, a clarinet duet, a clarinet quartet, a trumpet duet, a trombone duet, and trio, some miscellaneous brass, the choir, and the Woodlanaires. In the Piano and Vocal Contest, the Belles of Woodlan received a Superior rating.

The Belles of Woodlan and the Woodlanaires were the only state entries.

The club meets the second Wednesday of each month, using this time to practice contest entries.

Woodlan's concert choir is composed of over sixty Juniors and Seniors interested in vocal music. The chorus is directed by Mr. Theodore Taylor, and the accompanist is Kathleen Emme. For six weeks during the winter Miss Carol Winzeler substituted as choir director while Mr. Taylor was ill.

The first major activity of the chorus was participation in a Christmas program with the concert and jazz bands. This program was open to the public. The chorus also took part in a Christmas program on the day before Christmas vacation began. This program took place during the school day and was held for the benefit of the students.

After this, practice began for district contest. The long, hard weeks of practice were well spent, because the choir was given a first rating at the contest which was held at a grade school in Columbia City. Everyone was very proud of the well-disciplined group, and the judges commented on that fact. The choir and director deserve a lot of credit, for this is only the second year that they have been organized to participate in a contest.

The rating at district contest made the chorus eligible for the state contest which was held at Lakeland High School in Lagrange, Indiana. It competed with some of the best choirs in the state and still brought home a 2nd rating.

Later in the year came the spring concert, and as its last activity, the choir sang at the baccalaureate exercises for the Seniors.

The girls' choir is composed of only Freshmen and Sophomore girls. This group meets five days a week for a 20-minute period each day. The purpose of this ensemble is two-fold. It provides each girl training in anticipation of participation in Concert Choir in her Junior and Senior years. It also gives each girl experience in performing before an audience.

The girls sing both secular and sacred music, but they lean mainly toward the music from famous shows, such as "Sound of Music" and "Oliver".

The girls' choir has performed at the two concerts. Select members of this choir were chosen to join the Junior members of the Concert Choir in a performance at Baccalaureate.

Co-Editors Jackie Nahrwold and Brenda Etzler were responsible for designing the ARROW. Working during their free periods, they co-ordinated the efforts of the copy-writers, photographer, advertising sales, and the thousand-and-one details necessary to put together the story of 1965-1966.

Mrs. Wilma Wetter, faculty advisor to the ARROW staff, supervised all phases of planning and production. Pictures to be taken, copy to be written, bills to be paid, and deadlines to be met all required her daily attention and decisions.

Copy Editors Irene Brenneke, Leila Lengacher, and Sandra Smith collected material from each of the clubs about the activities which took place during the school year. They typed this copy on the pages drawn up by the editors. They also identified the many pictures.

Business Managers Gwen Baker and Richard Ruppert were given the task of arranging for the financing of the yearbook. Their job consisted mainly of supervising the selling of yearbook advertisements and the sale of yearbooks.

Glorious history of the Class of '66

The history of the glorious class of '66 began with a get-acquainted party in June of 1962. The future high school students played such dignified games as wheelbarrow racing and three-legged racing. The party did accomplish its purpose, however, and broke the ice for the incoming Freshmen.

The count taken on the first day of school showed that the class had one hundred members. Their first big project was electing class officers. They elected as leader Don Delagrange. His assistants were vice president, Sue Schafer; secretary, Barb Paterson; and treasurer, Doyle Allison. The reporter whom they elected one month later was Keith Gerbers.

Of course the class wanted money in its treasury to meet expenses, so dues were imposed of fifty cents a semester. These dues helped pay for the class party which was discussed for almost three months and was held finally on March 15, 1963. The party was a big event for the Freshmen and was very well attended.

The other big event was the class tournament. The class gave many suggestions for a name and finally picked "Freshmen Beatniks." They dressed in black and wore sunglasses and sandals. Their basketball team lost, mainly because of inexperience on their part and strong competition.

From then on all "Frosh" counted the days until school was out and they could call themselves Sophomores.

When school was resumed in September, and roll was taken, it was found that the class now had ninety-seven pupils. These proceeded to elect new officers at the first meeting. Sue Schafer was elected president; Ron Martin, vice president; Joy Nahrwold, secretary; June Rekeweg, treasurer; and Jim Lake, reporter.

That year was also the beginning of the student council so the class elected two representatives, Lora Carpenter and Keith Gerbers.

The party held that year was Come-As-You-Are. It was held on November 16, with entertainment provided by class member Larry Coomer and his guitar. Records were played, and there were tournaments in volleyball and ping pong. In other words, it was one-half activities and one-half hootenanny. For the hootenanny a group of folk singers called the Just Folk Trio were contacted and played that evening. This party was well organized, was well attended, and the general concensus was that it was the best party the class had ever had.

In January the time came to start work on the class tourney again. This year the class was more sure of itself and picked a title that gave them fame, "Sophomore Syndicate." Luck must have come with the name, for that year the Sophomores won the tournament.

There was one very important item yet to be taken care of, and that was the purchasing of class rings. By the time that was taken care of, the year was almost gone and with it the history of the Sophomore class of '64.

Junior year is one that is always looked forward to with excitement and with a desire to make it the best ever. The Juniors of 1965 were no exception.

The responsible people whom they picked as officers were president, Dave Bandelier; vice president, Lora Carpenter; secretary, Gwen Baker; treasurer, Don Delagrange; and reporter, John Pepe. The ninety-five Juniors also elected Student Council representatives. The people selected were Dave Rhodes and Jim Brockman.

The main object of the Junior class was to raise money, money, and more money, for financing the Prom in the spring.

Mr. Etzler sponsored the first money-making project, candy sales. The candy was sold over Thanksgiving and netted a respectable amount of money, over $800.00.

In January, planning began for the Junior-Senior Prom. A place was picked, the Chamber of Commerce Building in Fort Wayne, and committees for menu, pictures, theme, program, band, decorations, invitations, and coronation were selected.

March was Class Tourney time. By this time the class had a reputation for originality and entertainment, so they had to work hard to find a suitable name. Finally they picked Junior Gypsies as their title. A skit was also planned.

By this time work was beginning on the Junior play. The class again decided to be original by not presenting a three-act play, but instead a "Junior Capers", displaying the musical and dramatic talents of the majority of the class.

At the May class meeting, the class had a balance in its treasury of $1600.45, the receipts of the candy sales, magazine sales, and the play.

The prom was held on May 8th. The Juniors had put much effort into this endeavor, and the results were very good. The Prom went very smoothly and was complimented on by many people.

It was rumored all year that the Harlan students would join the Woodlan students at Woodlan the next year. Rumor became fact. One day in May the Harlan students visited Woodlan to become acquainted with it and with its inmates. This was the last big week before school came to a close.

In the fall the class came back very much aware of the fact that they were Seniors. New faces soon became the faces of friends as the Harlan and Woodlan students settled down for a year of work, fun and friendship. The officers elected to lead the massive Senior class were Jim Brockman, President; Doyle Allison, Vice-President; Diane Korte, Secretary; Leila Lengacher, Treasurer; and Joy Nahrwold, Reporter. Thus the busy Senior year was off to a smooth start.

The Seniors of the Class of '66 entered their float "Firing up a Victory" in the Homecoming Parade. Peg Perkins was crowned the 1966 Homecoming Queen with Lora Carpenter and Joy Nahrwold as the Senior Attendants.

The Senior play chosen by the Senior class was the Pulitzer Prize-winning "Our Town." For six weeks before the opening of the play on November 6th and 7th, the thespians of the Senior Class ate, slept and breathed their lines, spending every spare moment working on the play. The big nights came and went again quickly. Now there was a feeling of letdown after all the hours of work.

But there were always things for Seniors to do. Now they sold advertisements to pay for the yearbook. The sales managers worked frantically, and the money was finally collected. Now came the work for editors and copy editors. The library was in a state of constant turmoil as editors Jackie Nahrwold and Brenda Etzler, and copy editors Irene Brenneke, Leila Lengacher, and Sandy Smith worked to meet their deadlines. But sales managers Gwen Baker and Richard Ruppert still had the actual selling of annuals to take care of. A record number was sold.

That year for the class tourney, the dignified and graceful Seniors dressed as Spartans. Even though the team didn't win, the Seniors did receive the trophy for being the best dressed class.

The class motto, the flower, and the colors were picked in March, and committees were appointed to work with the administration concerning baccalaureate and commencement exercises.

After the Prom in May the first Senior class party was held. It was held at the New Haven Conservation Club. The theme was "Senior Safari," and both rooms were "wildly" decorated to fit the theme. The live band provided music for both square and round dancing. Unfortunately, the party was forced to adjourn at 12:00.

The big day grew closer and closer. Teachers piled on more assignments which Seniors naturally hated to do.

Baccalaureate was held on Sunday, May 22 and was a very impressive ceremony. Finally the big day came. The Seniors left the school with the words of their motto in mind, "To do our best today to insure a better tomorrow."
